

Rate My Progress

A really simple way of both engaging pupils with the learning outcomes and measuring their progress in a lesson.

How it works

1. At the beginning of the lesson introduce pupils to the learning outcomes then ask pupils to rate how confident they feel about each learning objectives out of 10.
2. During the lesson (mini-plenaries) or at the end of the lesson ask pupils to re-rate themselves against the same objectives. Use a show of hands to get pupils to indicate how much they have progressed e.g. moving from a confidence level of 4 to a 7 would be progress of 3. You could then use this to promote a discussion around the learning outcomes.
